PHOTOGRAPHER INFORMATION

GUIDELINES

Only those photographers on assignment will be allowed space on the floor and their photo credentials must be worn prominently at all times.

Credentials are good for admittance to the Fieldhouse, media room and the designated photographer areas on the Fieldhouse floor. Only television photographers doing postgame interviews will have access to locker room areas.

Photographers are allowed only within the designated photographers' area at each end of the court. Spaces will be assigned by the Media Relations Department.

All photographers and TV cameramen must stay at least four feet behind the baseline at all times. In the event it is not physically possible to achieve this in certain arenas, an appropriate standard will be determined by the Media Relations Department and the NBA.

Photographers must remain stationary and seated at all times, except at quarter breaks and halftime.

Photographers are not permitted on the court at any time during the game.

No food or drink is allowed on the playing floor.

Photographers cannot shoot from public walkways or vomitories.

If space is available, photographers may request to shoot from the media seating in the stands.

When placing tape on the playing floor, authorization must be received by a member of the Pacers Sports & Entertainment Media Relations Department or Facilities Division.

RUBBER LENS SHADES

In order to reduce the risk of injury to players, rubber lens shades are required for all still photographers, broadcasters, news and entertainment video and film crews who are authorized to shoot NBA game action. Any additional light sources or sun guns must either be removed or covered with bubble wrap.

Rubber lens covers are available by contacting:

Robert's Distributors, Inc.
255 S. Meridian St.
Indianapolis, IN 46225
(317) 636-5524
(800) 726-5544
FAX: (317) 636-5793

The only exception to this policy will be for those photographers utilizing telephoto lenses (i.e. 300 and 400 mm lenses) when such lenses are used to shoot game action at the opposite end of the court. These lenses must be stored behind the photographer when the action is in the near side of the court.

EQUIPMENT

Photographers located on the baseline or sideline will be permitted only one standard size "Domke" bag which must be placed behind the photographer during the game. Equipment not needed during the game must be stored off the court. One additional camera can be stored either beside or directly behind the photographer.

Each photographer will be permitted one monopod -- NO TRIPODS -- at courtside. No stand-alone remotes or seats other than "lawn-type" photographer seats will be permitted.

All film should be unpacked before the game and all trash should be properly disposed of by the photographer.

LOCKER ROOMS

No still photography is permitted in the either teams' locker room.

CLOTHING

All photographers must leave any outer wear, i.e. coats, hats, gloves, etc., in the Bill York Media Room during game action.

TV NEWS CREWS

Credential requests must be received by Noon the day of the game.

News crews are restricted to crowd interviews in the Entry Pavilion, Balcony and Main Concourse. Interviews are not allowed in the vomitories on any level of Conseco Fieldhouse. News crews are not allowed on the Suite or Club Levels, unless accompanied by a member of the Media Relations Department. In order to enter a suite, each news crew must have permission from the individual suite holder to enter their respective suite. Once permission is granted, the news crew must inform a member of the Media Relations Department, and then will be accompanied into the suite by a member of the Media Relations Department.

During game action, news crews must shoot crowd reaction from designated areas. Check with the Media Relations Department for locations. No interviews will be allowed within the seating bowl once game action begins.

INTERNATIONAL MEDIA

All international media (affiliations distributed outside of the U.S.) requests are handled by the NBA International PR Department. Any international media member interested in covering an Indiana Pacers regular season game must first submit a request in writing to the NBA. Please do not contact the Pacers individually.

All credential requests must be received at least three business days prior to the first games requested.

Photo identification will be required when picking up confirmed credentials at the Media Entrance.

Requests must be FAXED or mailed to the attention of:

CONSECO FIELDHOUSE

With 750,000 square feet and 18,345 seats, this is a new house that is, remarkably, an old home.

Conseco Fieldhouse, opened Nov. 6, 1999, when the Indiana Pacers hosted the Boston Celtics, is a step into the future while taking a walk back into history. It's big, yet comfortable. It has all the modern appliances, yet there's that favorite old picture on the wall. It is a building that is unique in today's sports society because the extra effort was made to make it that way. In other words, if you have a religion, you must build the appropriate cathedral.

In Indiana, basketball is religion. Conseco Fieldhouse is the cathedral. That's what makes the new home of the Indiana Pacers unique.

"We wanted this building to have a kind of special feeling to it, that when people came into it they felt part of the tradition that the building is for," said Pacers President Donnie Walsh. "I think this is a pure basketball arena that reflects the game itself and the roots of the game."

Ground was broken on July 22, 1997 on the $183 million multi-purpose facility and while there were blueprints, a scale model and dreams, it was hard for anyone at the time to fathom what would evolve. But what has risen 14 stories into the Indianapolis skyline is a fit perfect for the city, the state, the game of basketball at any level and the various events a facility of this type would host.

"There are so many features that make it one-of-a-kind," said Tom Proebstle, Project Designer for Ellerbe Beckett, the Fieldhouse design firm. "The most obvious feature is the two huge glass curtain walls facing east and west that mark the beginning of an incredible architectural promenade as you are approaching downtown on the highway and see the lit-up glass set against the Indianapolis skyline. No other arena in the world can claim this. I'm sure it will be copied many times over."

That's the view from the outside. Inside, the unique look and feel of Conseco Fieldhouse fully takes over. The entry pavilion is a vast gathering place that funnels fans to the grand staircase. As patrons make their way up the staircase, their view takes them to their first look at the seating bowl (another unique feature) or to large, memorabilia cases on each side of the entrance to the fieldhouse seating bowl.

From there, no matter which direction one takes, it's a nostalgic look. From the signage, to the concession stands, to the sponsor pavilions, to the bathrooms, to the practice facility, to the light fixtures, to the scoreboard, to the roll-out bleachers at the south end, Conseco Fieldhouse is unique, distinct and, as Pacers' guard Reggie Miller described, "Unbelievable. Absolutely unbelievable. Far beyond my expectations."

John Hilkene, the project manager who worked on Cleveland's Gund Arena and Washington's MCI Center, said, "I think people will be amazed when they see it. You're transported back in time to a 1940s style of fieldhouse, but it will still have all the updated technology."

Conseco Fieldhouse has suites (69), club seats (2,400) and state-of-the-art amenities. But it will have a look and feel unlike any other indoor facility.

"The instinct is always to under-promise and over-deliver," said Pacers' General Manager David Kahn. "But I think once the doors opened to Conseco Fieldhouse, people were blown away, no ifs, ands or buts. I'm convinced, after seeing them all, that this one will stand on its own as the best in the business. I really believe that. I think that everybody in the NBA and everybody who is a basketball fan will be talking about this building for years to come."

Additionally, Conseco Fieldhouse has already been cited for its compliance and exceeding of ADA (Americans with Disabilities Act) requirements.

"Conseco Fieldhouse was built with everyone in mind," said Kahn.

DONNIE WALSH
President

Not only has Donnie Walsh been an assistant coach, general manager and now, team president, for the Indiana Pacers, he has been the franchise's builder and believer.

On and off the court.

In the last seven years, the Pacers have become one of the NBA's elite teams, reaching the NBA Finals last year, reaching the Eastern Conference Finals five times and winning three Central Division Championships. Consider that when Walsh took over the Pacers as general manager in April of 1986, the team was coming off a 26-56 season and had reached the playoffs only once in 10 NBA seasons. Under Walsh's guidance, the Pacers have reached the playoffs 10 of the last 11 years.

The 1999-2000 season was one of the more interesting, yet impressive, trips to the postseason. In June, the Pacers traded veteran Antonio Davis to Toronto for the draft rights to a talented high school player, Jonathan Bender, the fifth overall pick in the NBA draft. Many predicted the Pacers to not only finish low in the Eastern Conference, but in the bottom half of the Central Division.

At season's end, the Pacers had not only won the Central for the second straight year, but for the first time in franchise history had compiled the best outright record in the Eastern Conference at 56-26. That mark was also the Pacers' second-best overall record (58-24 in 1997-98) in the team's NBA history. The Pacers also tied a league-best (with the L.A. Lakers) 36-5 record at home that included a 25-game home winning streak, both franchise records.

In the playoffs, the Pacers beat Milwaukee and Philadelphia before meeting their old nemesis, the New York Knicks, in the Eastern Conference Finals. But there, the Pacers won their first-ever Eastern Conference Championship in six games and advanced to the NBA Finals for the first time where they fell to the Los Angeles Lakers in six games for the world championship.

"My personal goal for the Pacers' franchise was to always be included in the great tradition of Indiana basketball with both high school and college," said Walsh. "Our reaching the NBA Finals last year and reaching the Conference Finals five out of seven years is a point of excellence that I think puts us in that category of Indiana basketball and reflects well on the basketball in this state. I think we're now firmly part of that mix and I feel good about that. But the ultimate goal is still to win a championship."

Off the court, Walsh oversaw another building process. As the Pacers headed toward the next century, the need for a new arena in downtown Indianapolis was becoming more and more evident. In 1994, after the Pacers reached the Eastern Conference Finals for the first time, he began quiet discussions with city leaders.

On July 22nd, 1997, ground was broken.

Today, 18,345 -seat Conseco Fieldhouse fits neatly into place in downtown Indianapolis, the NBA and with Indiana's rich basketball tradition for a very unique trifecta. The retro-style, multi-purpose facility has drawn rave reviews for its blending of the modern amenities - such as suites and club seats - with attention to the basketball heritage of Indiana and ensuring that all fans are at home in what is truly a basketball house. It is a basketball destination and a tourist attraction.

In the 1999-2000 season and postseason, the Pacers sold out every game in the Fieldhouse, the first time that has been done in franchise history. In the 1999-2000 season, only the New York Knicks and Chicago Bulls sold out every home game.

"I think it culminates all of our dreams for the Pacers, but I think it also encompasses everything that is Indiana basketball to me," said Walsh. "That was our goal when we started this and I'm talking about when we started back in 1986 to build a team. We wanted the team to be a part of the tradition of Indiana basketball, which it really hadn't been up until that point in the NBA. It has been a long process over many years, but I think it culminates with Conseco Fieldhouse because it kind of embodies it."

On both counts of building the Pacers and Conseco Fieldhouse, it took a believer. Walsh fits that mold perfectly.

In 1986, the Pacers were struggling. They had lost two key players, Clark Kellogg and Steve Stipanovich, to career-ending knee injuries. But Walsh, rarely taking a day off in his 13 years on the job, believed he could turn the franchise around. And he has.

Starting with his first draft, Walsh took Chuck Person, who went on to become Rookie of the Year. Person, with Detlef Schrempf, acquired by Walsh in a trade, and a young gun named Reggie Miller who was drafted by Walsh, led the Pacers to the first of many memorable playoff series, a five-game loss to Larry Bird and the Boston Celtics in 1991.

In 1993, Walsh hired Larry Brown as coach and in 1994 they reached the Eastern Conference Finals before losing to New York in seven games. In 1995, the Pacers again reached the East Finals (losing to Orlando), but they had their first 50-win NBA season and won their first NBA banner, the Central Division championship.

The 1996 playoff run was cut short by Atlanta in the first round, but Miller missed the first four games of that series with an eye injury. In 1997, the Pacers slipped to 39-43 and didn't make the playoffs for the first time in seven seasons, due to injuries to Rik Smits, Derrick McKey and key backup, Haywoode Workman. Brown resigned in April, but Walsh - thinking ahead as always - had a high-profile replacement ready, the legendary Bird.

The Pacers finished the 1997-98 season with an NBA team record 58 victories and their 58-24 record provided a .707 winning percentage, the best in franchise history and went the last 63 games of the regular season without losing two straight games. Also that season, the Pacers compiled the best record in the East at the All-Star break, earning the coaching staff of Bird and assistants Dick Harter and Rick Carlisle, All-Star coaching honors. They were joined in New York by Reggie Miller and Rik Smits, only the second time in team history the Pacers had two NBA All-Stars. Bird eventually was named Coach of the Year and the Pacers extended the eventual World Champion Chicago Bulls to seven games before losing in the Eastern Conference Finals.

Then, in 1998-99, the Pacers tied for the best record in the Eastern Conference (33-17), won their second Central Division championship and their winning percentage of .660 was the second-highest in their NBA history. With Conseco Fieldhouse rising in the Indianapolis skyline, Walsh has seen two projects rise to prominence.

"Looking back at it, I'm glad we've been able to get the team to the point where it is," he said. "There's great satisfaction in doing that. As for Conseco Fieldhouse, I get the feeling of accomplishment in the sense that after being here 13 years, if I have a part in this building it's that it is something permanent I can look back on and think, 'Well, I had something to do with that.' "

The 59-year-old (3/1/41) Walsh has also seen fan appreciation rise during his tenure. Attendance in Market Square Arena was the highest in franchise history the last 12 seasons before the record-breaking move to the Fieldhouse, capped by 1995-96 in which the Pacers had a record average of 16,438, that included 29 sellouts and a season-ending run of 13 straight sellouts. In 1997-98, fans filled MSA to 96 percent of its capacity and in its last season an average of 16,182 (98 percent capacity) visited MSA. In 25 home dates in the 1998-99 season, the Pacers had 15 sellouts.

Walsh, who in 1988 was named president of the Pacers Basketball Corporation (now Pacers Sports & Entertainment which runs the Pacers and also directs the management of Conseco Fieldhouse), has spent his life in and around basketball.

An outstanding high school player in New York City, Walsh played at North Carolina under Frank McGuire and Dean Smith. After graduating with a bachelor of arts degree in political science, Walsh attended the North Carolina Law School and helped coach the Tar Heels' freshman team for two seasons.

After graduating from law school and turning down offers from then former Vice President Richard Nixon's law firm in New York City and the U.S. Justice Department's Honors programs, he took a graduate coaching position under Smith at North Carolina and then became an associate head coach under McGuire at South Carolina. In 1977, Walsh was about to enter private law practice in South Carolina, but Brown, the head coach of the Denver Nuggets, asked Walsh to join him as an assistant. Walsh stayed with the Nuggets as an assistant coach and a head coach before entering private business in 1982.

But in 1984, Walsh was back in basketball as a Pacers' assistant to George Irvine. He remained on the bench until becoming general manager two years later. He has since been a member of the U.S. Olympic Games Committee for men's basketball for Dream Teams I and II, a member on the WNBA Operating Committee and was recently named to the NBA's Special Committee on Rules.

Walsh's knowledge, professionalism, accessibility and courtesy are highly-recognized throughout the NBA by players, coaches, front office personnel and the media. He is also a respected member of the Indianapolis community, serving on the boards of many charities.

He and his wife, Judy, both natives of New York, have five children and live in Indianapolis.

DAVID KAHN
General Manager

Since David Kahn joined the Indiana Pacers at the start of the 1995-96 season, he has been at the forefront of the franchise's many achievements, among them the lobbying for the brand new Conseco Fieldhouse and the determination to build not an arena, but a fieldhouse. Additionally, in assisting Pacers President Donnie Walsh, Kahn has been instrumental in a wide array of moves affecting the team - from player contracts to trades to the NBA Draft.

Now, with the Pacers having launched the next millennium in their new home, Kahn's continuing efforts will focus on making the Pacers the NBA's model franchise, both on and off the court.

From the beginning, Kahn shared the vision and dream of Walsh and team owners Mel and Herb Simon to build a fieldhouse that would encompass the rich tradition and basketball heritage of Indiana, but also included the very best of today's modern amenities. In addition, Kahn was responsible for developing the master plan for the sale of suites, club seats and building sponsorships for the new fieldhouse.

This will be Kahn's third season as the Pacers' General Manager. In this role, he is responsible for overseeing the day-to-day business and basketball operations for Pacers Sports & Entertainment. From overseeing the basketball operations to the booking of a musical act to perform at the Fieldhouse, it is a role that requires Kahn to use numerous skills he developed during a multi-dimensional career.

This past offseason alone, Kahn was deeply involved in the Pacers' selection of their first round draft choice, Primoz Brezec; the plan to hire Isiah Thomas to the satisfaction of the NBA's directive that Thomas sell the CBA; the team's personnel moves and free agent signings; the re-organization of the team's Communications Division; and the budgeting process.

Prior to being named to his current position in July 1998 by Walsh, Kahn served as Assistant to the President for one season and Vice President and Assistant General Manager for two years. His specific duties during that early period included administration of the team's salary cap; staying abreast of NBA developments as they related to the Pacers and representing the team in their quest for the Fieldhouse.

Said Walsh at the time of Kahn's promotion: "David has expanded his role from dealing with the salary cap and arena issues to more responsibilities in the running of the franchise on a day-to-day basis. David is well-equipped to work both on the basketball and business side. He has a background as both a lawyer and a journalist which gives him a broad perspective in dealing with the day-to-day operations of an NBA franchise."

Kahn, 38, came to the Pacers in November 1995 from the New York law firm Proskauer Rose, which is primary outside counsel to the NBA, the National Hockey League, the Philadelphia Eagles, of the National Football League, the Association of Tennis Professionals Tour and other sports entities. Kahn worked as an associate in the Litigation Department. In addition to his law practice, Kahn also served from 1991-95 as the basketball consultant for "NBA Showtime" at NBC Sports in New York, working closely with the show's producers and on-air talent, including Bob Costas and Basketball Hall of Famer Julius Erving.

Before moving to New York to attend NYU School of Law in 1990, Kahn was an NBA sportswriter and columnist for six years at the Portland Oregonian and, during college, a writer for the Los Angeles Times. He also wrote on a freelance basis for such publications as the Washington Post, Boston Globe and Inside Sports. Kahn earned a degree in English at UCLA in 1983.

Kahn is married to Kerry McClenahan, who founded and is a principal with McClenahan Bruer Communications, an advertising/public relations firm in Portland, Oregon. They have a daughter, Marika.

DAVID MORWAY

Sr. Vice President/Basketball Administration

David Morway is starting his third full season with the Pacers, having joined the franchise in February 1999. As Sr. Vice President of Basketball Administration, Morway's responsibilities include the overseeing of pro, college and international scouting, as well the administration of the basketball departments of the Pacers and the Fever.

The 41-year-old Morway (11/9/59) has a vast sports background. He served as Assistant to the President for the San Diego Padres from 1985-88, where he was involved in contract analysis and negotiation. He also designed and implemented programs in player relations, team employee assistance and customer relations.

From 1988-95, Morway started and was president of Professional Excellence in Sports, Inc. (Pro Ex), a sports management firm. Morway represented more than 75 clients, including David Benoit, Ed Gray, former Pacers player Micheal Williams, Junior Seau, Darren Woodson, Chris Naeole and Tony Clark.

Pro Ex was incorporated into DSM International in 1995 and Morway remained with the company until 1998.

A 1982 graduate of the University of Arizona, Morway also has a law degree from the University of San Diego. He is married to Karen and they have one son, Robbie. They live in Carmel.

Dale Ratermann, 44, (4/5/56) is responsible for the administration of marketing for Pacers Sports & Entertainment. After six-and-a-half years as the media relations director, he was promoted to vice president of administration in 1992 and in the summer of 1998 was promoted to his current position.

On five occasions, Ratermann was awarded the Howie McHugh/Marc Splaver Award, given to the outstanding public relations director in the NBA's Eastern Conference.

Before joining the Pacers staff, Ratermann served as the assistant sports information director at the University of Illinois for seven years. After graduating from Illinois in 1978, he attended graduate school at Arizona State University.

Ratermann is a member of the advisory board for Indiana University's Graduate School of Business, as well as a member of the boards for the American Institute of Excellence, the Indiana Mental Health Association, Indiana Youthlinks and the Pacers Foundation.

Sr. Vice President/Executive Director of Conseco Fieldhouse

Since joining Pacers Sports & Entertainment, Rick Fuson, 47, (6/12/53) has been instrumental in shaping events within Market Square Arena, and now Conseco Fieldhouse, and many other sports events elsewhere in Indianapolis. For example, he was on the executive committee for the 1991 World Gymnastics Championships and served as ceremonies chairman. He was co-chairman of special events for the 1991, 1997 and 2000 NCAA Final Four. He was also Executive Director of the closing ceremonies of the Pan American Games in 1987. He co-chaired the grand opening of the Indianapolis Zoo in 1988. Fuson will co-chair the 2003 World Gymnastics Championships, serve on the Local Organizing Committee for the 2002 World Basketball Championships, produce the ceremonies of the 2001 World Police & Fire Games, and serve on the Local Organizing Committee for the 2004 World Short Course Swimming Championships.

Fuson is a member of the executive committee of the Indiana Sports Corporation and chairman of its for-profit arm, Sports Marketing, Inc. He is a board member of Indianapolis Downtown, Inc./Marketing, the Indianapolis Convention & Visitors Association and Ballet Internationale.

A graduate of Indiana University, he joined the staff of Market Square Arena in 1984 as director of special events and was promoted a year later to vice president. He is a professional member of the International Association of Assembly Managers. He has also been active with the Indianapolis Fellowship of Christian Athletes, the 1985 NBA All-Star weekend, the White River Park State Games and Indianapolis Downtown Space 2010. Fuson also helped oversee the Pacers' move to Conseco Fieldhouse for the 1999-2000 season.

He is married to 1988 Olympic Gymnast Kelly Garrison and has three children.

BOB METELKO

Sr. Vice President/Administration & Finance

Bob Metelko, 55 (9/1/45), is responsible for overseeing the financial operation for Pacers Sports & Entertainment which includes the Indiana Pacers, Conseco Fieldhouse, the Pacers Foundation and the Indiana Fever.

His background begins with a business administration degree from the University of Notre Dame in 1967. After college, he spent two years in the U.S. Army Finance Corps before moving to Houston in 1969 to work as a staff auditor for Price Waterhouse.

Metelko, moved to Indianapolis in 1972 after accepting an accounting position with a small CPA firm in Greenwood, Ind. He received his CPA designation in 1973 and is a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Indiana CPA Society, as well as, the Financial Executives Institute. In 1974, Metelko accepted the position of assistant controller for Merchants National Bank (presently National City Bank). He was later promoted to vice president/controller.

Metelko joined the Indiana Pacers as Chief Financial Officer at the beginning of the 1984-85 season and has since played an integral part in shaping the organization's accounting and financial systems. He has taken the accounting department from a narrow, one-man operation handling only basic payroll and financial reports to a complex financial network which includes budgeting, cash management, financial reporting, insurance, legal, human resources, travel, office services and management information systems.

Originally a native of Lincoln, Ill., Metelko has three grown children and now considers Indianapolis his home along with his wife, Belinda.

NELL FORTNER

Fever General Manager/Head Coach

Nell Fortner accepted the position of Head Coach and General Manager of the Indiana Fever in August 1999. However, she won't coach her first game with the Fever until the team takes the floor for its opener in the 2001 season. In 1997, Fortner accepted the position of head coach of the USA Basketball Women's National Team and her commitments with USA Basketball and the 2000 Olympic Games in Sydney, Australia kept her from coaching the Fever in its inaugural season last year.

However, Fortner made the best of her time with USA Basketball as she led the Women's National Team to the Olympic gold in Sydney with a perfect 8-0 mark. Since being named head coach of Team USA, she led the team to a 101-14 record overall, the most wins of any coach in Women's USA Basketball history. Along with the Olympic gold, she led Team USA to a gold medal in the 1998 FIBA World Championships of Basketball. Following the World Championships, she took a squad of top collegians and registered a perfect 5-0 record in the R. William Jones Cup Tournament in Taiwan.

Considered one of the brightest young women's basketball coaches in the country, Fortner was head coach at Purdue University during the 1996-97 season prior to joining Team USA. At Purdue, she took over a team that returned just four players and posted a 12-4 conference record, a share of the regular season Big Ten title and a 17-11 record overall. Under Fortner's leadership, the Boilermakers advanced to the second round of the 1997 NCAA Tournament, where the team was eliminated in overtime by eventual runner-up Old Dominion. For her efforts, she was named the Big Ten's Coach of the Year and Basketball Times' National Coach of the Year.

As USA head coach Tara VanDerveer's assistant in 1995-96, Fortner was on the bench for the National Team's amazing 52-0 run that ended with a gold medal at the 1996 Olympic Summer Games in Atlanta.

Prior to that coaching stint, Fortner spent five seasons (1991-1995) as an assistant coach with the nationally respected Louisiana Tech program. The Lady Techsters enjoyed great success during Fortner's tenure as an assistant, logging a 123-37 record (.794) and making five consecutive NCAA Tournament appearances, including a trip to the championship game in 1994.

A native of Jackson, Mississippi, she began her coaching career as a graduate assistant at Stephen F. Austin University (Texas) in 1986-87, then spent three years (1987-1990) as an assistant for the Ladyjacks. Throughout her 10-year collegiate career, teams with Fortner as a member of the coaching staff have tallied a 279-60 record, for an 82.3 winning percentage. Also, while at Stephen F. Austin, Fortner earned her master's degree in education in 1987

A 1982 graduate of the University of Texas, she helped lead Texas to a 127-26 record during her four seasons. Fortner compiled 1,466 points which today ranks 13th on the Longhorns' all-time scoring list. She also helped lead the school's volleyball team to the 1981 AIAW national championship.

KELLY KRAUSKOPF

Fever Chief Operating Officer

Kelly Krauskopf will begin her second season as the Fever's Chief Operating Officer in 2001. Under Krauskopf's guidance, the Fever was one of the WNBA's model franchises during the 2000 season as the first-year team finished fourth in attendance with an average of 11,267 fans per game. In her role with the Fever, Krauskopf oversees all aspects of day-to-day business operations.

From concept to reality, Krauskopf has been in the forefront of the development of the WNBA. In September 1996, she was named Director of Basketball Operations for the new league. In that role, she was involved in all phases of the league's start-up operation and initiatives. She also developed the league's first set of playing rules, officiating policies and other league standards, while working daily with WNBA team general managers and operations personnel as well as overseeing the basketball operations budget.

Before joining the WNBA, Krauskopf was the Managing Director of League Development for Media Sports Partnership, Limited in Dallas. In that capacity, her responsibilities included researching and analyzing the feasibility of a women's professional basketball league and developing a league business plan and marketing strategy.

From 1990 to 1994, she was Assistant Commissioner for the Southwest Conference. In addition to overseeing league marketing, she was the chief administrator for all eight women's sports programs in the conference. She served from 1986 to 1990 as Texas A&M's Assistant Athletic Director for Women's Sports/Marketing.

Krauskopf has previously served on committees for the Women's Sports Foundation; the Women's Basketball Coaches Association; Citizenship for Sports Alliance; Texas A&M's Lettermen's Association Board of Directors; the Dallas Mayor's Task Force for the Southwest Conference Tournament and the City of Dallas Re-location Task Force for the Women's Sports Foundation.

A 1983 graduate of Texas A&M University, she was captain of the Aggies' basketball team for two years.

Kellogg, who has done television analyst work for Cleveland State University, the Big East Television Network and ESPN, currently serves as a game analyst for CBS' coverage of college basketball and studio analyst during the network's coverage of "March Madness." He is a former first-round draft pick of the Pacers (1982, eighth selection overall) and played five seasons with the team. Chronic knee problems forced him to retire after career averages of 18.9 points and 9.6 rebounds per game as well as a unanimous selection to the 1982 NBA All-Rookie Team.

Kellogg, a native of Cleveland, Ohio, attended Ohio State University where he was the Big Ten's MVP in 1982. He volunteers his time and resources to various organizations, including the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Athletes In Action, United Way and Special Olympics.

He and his wife, Rosy, have three children, Talisa, Alex and Nicholas. They live in Westerville, Ohio.

ISIAH THOMAS
Head Coach

Isiah Thomas was just a few seconds into his introduction as the Indiana Pacers' head coach when the former point guard got right to the point.

"It's a championship caliber team with only one goal in mind and that is next year to win the NBA championship," said Thomas.

So on July 20, 2000, Thomas made it clear second place is no place he wants to be. And he has the resume to prove it.

High school? Illinois state champion with St. Joseph's. College? NCAA champion in 1981 with Indiana University. NBA? Back-to-back championships with the Detroit Pistons in 1989-90. He won a gold medal with the 1979 United States Pan-Am Games basketball team. Had it not been for the 1980 Olympic boycott, Thomas would probably have an Olympic championship as well, since he had been selected for the United States basketball team. Finally, there is the personal recognition of being a champion in his sport: On Oct. 13, 2000, Thomas was inducted into the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame.

Now he moves on to the next task of bringing an NBA title to the Pacers, a team that has been in the Eastern Conference Finals five of the last seven years and just last season reached the NBA Finals for the first time before falling to the Los Angeles Lakers in six games.

"We have obstacles in front of us, but my goal and my job is to continue to develop our younger players, to get the most and the best out of our veteran players and to lead this organization and this team to a level that it has yet to reach," said Thomas. "I am looking forward to the challenge and opportunity and I am looking forward to continuing the success of Indiana basketball."

Facing challenges, and conquering them, is nothing new to Thomas.

Born April 30, 1961, in Chicago, Thomas grew up learning discipline and leadership from his mother, Mary. In a neighborhood plagued by drugs, violence and crime, Mary kept Isiah going in the right direction. It didn't stop with the formative years, though. When Thomas left Indiana University after his sophomore season to enter the NBA, his mother made him promise to return to school to earn his degree.

In 1986, while Isiah was playing in the NBA Playoffs, Mary was fittingly accepting his diploma during IU graduation ceremonies.

It is that sense of purpose which has made Thomas successful, both on the floor and off. As a player, his accomplishments are numerous.

After his brief, but successful, collegiate career, Thomas was selected in the first round of the 1981 NBA Draft by the Pistons and what ensued was near dominance from a player just 6-1. He was a 12-time NBA All-Star game participant (and starter), earning MVP awards in that game in 1984 and '86.

In 1982, he was The Sporting News Rookie of the Year and in 1990 he was the NBA Finals MVP. When his 13-year career concluded, Thomas was the Pistons' all-time leader in points, assists, steals and games played for the regular season and playoffs. His 13.9 assists per game in 1984-85 set an NBA record that was later broken by John Stockton. Thomas, along with Stockton, Magic Johnson and Oscar Robertson, is only one of four players with 9,000 career assists.

It is no wonder that the Pistons retired his No. 11, nor is it a surprise that Thomas was voted one of the NBA's 50 Greatest. Last November, he was also cited as one of the 50 Greatest Players to have played in Indiana.

After retiring from the Pistons in 1994, Thomas turned his leadership qualities toward business. A former president of the National Basketball Players Association, Thomas became part owner and Executive Vice President/Basketball of the expansion Toronto Raptors.

From there, he became a studio analyst for the NBA on NBC and in 1999, he purchased the Continental Basketball Association and became its chairman and CEO. Also in 1999, Thomas founded Enlighten Sports, Inc., a full-service web development group specializing in sports marketing and merchandising for collegiate and minor league athletic programs.

Now Thomas turns to coaching, his first turn at the profession, although many considered him a coach on the floor during his playing days.

"My greatest gift that I have in life is basketball," he said. "It's something that I have been blessed with in terms of playing the game and being able to understand the game. Not being able to exercise that gift over the last couple of years, I really found a void in myself and a hole in my soul. I said the biggest problem that I have had over the last couple of years is that I wake up and I don't go to the gym. I have been successful in a lot of other areas but not having the ability to exercise the greatest gift that I have, which is basketball, you know I have missed it."

What type of coach Thomas will be, he's not sure of, but he does know what he expects from his team.

"I think it is a process that we will all watch to see what type of coach that I am going to be because I can honestly tell you that I don't know what type of person is going to come out of me once I get on the sidelines," Thomas said. "When you are a player, the type of player that you become and the personality that you take on the court is going to be different than the one you have off the court.

"I am not sure what that personality is going to be once I am standing on the sidelines and who will come out of me. It's just something that I'll develop into and grow into."

As for the team, "I do envision championship basketball and when you talk about championship basketball, you talk about a good defensive team, you talk about a good offensive team and you talk about a team that really has its act together once they step on the floor. Our goal is to dominate the east and we must continue to dominate the east so that we can have another return to the NBA Finals. And I think mentally we have to become a tougher basketball team. I think mental toughness is going to be the thing that makes us champions."

Away from the floor, Thomas is extremely active. He is founder of the Isiah Thomas Foundation, an organization that is committed to promoting and creating educational and recreational opportunities for inner-city youth in the Detroit area. He is also active in educational, anti-crime and anti-poverty programs that he became involved with as a player and has continued since.

He has been honored as the 1985 Michiganian of the Year and the University of Detroit Mercy President's Cabinet Medallion in 1992 for his contributions to the community.

Thomas is married to Lynn and they have two children, Joshua and Lauren. In his spare time, Thomas enjoys traveling, golf, reading and relaxing with his family.

BRENDAN MALONE

Assistant Coach

After spending the past four seasons as an assistant coach for the New York Knicks, Malone brings 15 years of NBA experience to the Pacers.

A native of New York City, Malone first joined the Knicks for a two year stint (1986-88) as an Assistant Coach under Hubie Brown, Bob Hill and Rick Pitino.

Following that two year stint, Malone spent seven seasons as an Assistant Coach with the Detroit Pistons (1988-1995), which included the Pistons' back-to-back title runs.

In 1995-96, Malone was hired by Isiah Thomas to become the coach of the expansion Toronto Raptors. After his stint with the Raptors, Malone became a consultant for the Seattle SuperSonics during the team's run to the 1996 NBA Finals.

Malone's coaching career began in his hometown in the mid-'60s, with two years of CYO coaching. He then coached three years of junior varsity and six years (1970-76) of varsity basketball at Power Memorial High School, leading that school to two city championships and a combined 110-38 (.743) record.

While at Power, Malone was a three time New York City "Coach of the Year" in basketball, as well as a two time "Coach of the Year" in baseball.

Malone's success at Power led to assistant coaching stints at Fordham University (1976-77), Yale University (1977-78) and Syracuse University (1978-84), before becoming a head coach at the University of Rhode Island (1984-86).

Malone grew up in the Astoria section of Queens. He earned his master's degree in physical education at New York University in 1968, and began teaching and coaching at Power Memorial.

In 1997, Brendan was inducted into the Basketball Old Timers of America Hall of Fame. His record at Power earned him enshrinement into the New York City Catholic Sports Hall of Fame in 1993.

Brendan and his wife Maureen have six children, Cara, Brendan, Kevin, Kelly, Michael and Shannon. During the offseason, Malone and his family live in Astoria.

WAYNE "TREE" ROLLINS

Tree Rollins brings more than 25 years of NBA experience to the Indiana Pacers' bench.

Last season, Rollins served as the only assistant coach for the Washington Wizards during the last half of the season. Prior to his stint with Washington, he served as an assistant coach for the Orlando Magic from 1993-1999. During the 1994-95 season, he served a dual role of assistant coach/player for the Magic.

Rollins also served as the head coach of the NBA's Pre-Draft Camp held in Chicago, where he was responsible for player development, as well as game and opponent preparation.

In 1997, he represented the NBA on its South Africa Tour, which also featured former Pacers' player Dale Davis and the Hawks' Dikembe Mutombo. The tour involved youth basketball camps, clinics and motivational speeches.

Before becoming a full-time coach, Rollins saw action with five different teams – Atlanta (11 seasons), Cleveland (two seasons), Detroit (one season), Houston (two seasons), as well as Orlando.

In his first nine seasons, he ranked among the top 10 shot blockers, and led the league with 343 blocks in 1981-82. Rollins earned First Team All-Defensive honors in 1983-84 and second team honors in 1982-83.

A 1977 graduate of Clemson University, Rollins was selected as the 14th pick overall of the NBA Draft by the Atlanta Hawks.

JIM STACK

Assistant Coach

Jim Stack joins the Pacers staff after spending the past 13 seasons with the Chicago Bulls.

While with the Bulls, Stack last served as the Assistant Vice President of Basketball Operations. Stack spent four years at that position after being promoted from his previous position of Special Assistant to the Vice President of Basketball Operations, in which he spent eight years. As the Special Assistant, his duties included scouting on all levels, as well as contract negotiations and analysis. Stack also played an active role in the acquisition of every Bulls player, as his duties also included free agent scouting, as well as all playoff advance scouting.

During Stack's tenure with the Bulls, the team won six NBA World Championships and established a record for most wins in a season, with 72 regular season wins in 1995-96.

Upon his 1983 graduation from Northwestern University, Stack was drafted by the Houston Rockets as the 117th pick overall in the 1983 NBA Draft. He spent five years playing professionally in Europe.

A native of Chicago, Jim, 40, and his wife, Martha, have four children, Stephanie, James, Edward and Cecilia.

VERN FLEMING

Assistant Coach

Former Pacers player Vern Fleming takes his first coaching job as he joins Coach Isiah Thomas' staff as an assistant.

Fleming played 11 seasons with the Pacers, starting in 1984 when he was the team's first round draft pick (18th overall) out of the University of Georgia. He still ranks in the top 10 for the Pacers in seasons, games, minutes, field goals made, field goals attempted, field goal percentage, free throws made, free throws attempted, offensive rebounds, defensive rebounds, total rebounds, assists, steals and points. Fleming eventually retired after playing briefly with the New Jersey Nets in 1996.

A member of the 1984 gold medal winning U.S. Olympic men's basketball team, the 38-year-old (2/4/62) Fleming was pursuing business interests before landing with Thomas' staff.

Fleming is a native of New York City.

DAVID CRAIG

Head Athletic Trainer/Team Administrator

This is David Craig's 31st year as the head athletic trainer for the Indiana Pacers. In that time, he has distinguished himself as one of the best athletic trainers in sports because of his professionalism, knowledge, work ethic, organizational skills and personality.

With all of those things combined, the 53-year-old (8/6/47) Craig has given the Pacers a valued employee whom many consider irreplaceable.

Craig's athletic training education began as a junior at West Lafayette High School when he began working under Purdue University's William "Pinky" Newell, widely regarded as the father of modern day athletic training. That schooling continued for Craig as an undergraduate at Purdue and during summers he worked camps for the NFL's Detroit Lions and Minnesota Vikings.

Craig joined the Pacers prior to the 1970-71 season and was part of two ABA championship teams which he cites as "very important" moments in his career. Craig adds he "looks forward to being part of an NBA championship" team.

During his years with the Pacers, Craig has been justly honored. He was the first president of the Indiana Athletic Trainers Association and in 1993 won the organization's "Professional Clinician/Athletic Trainer of the Year" Award. In 1995, he was inducted into the IATA Hall of Fame. He served as the trainer for the Eastern Conference in the 1985 and 1996 NBA All-Star games. He currently is the chairman of the National Basketball Trainers Association Executive Committee, a position he previously held.

Recently, David received a Distinguished Alumnus Award from Purdue University.

Locally, from 1978 to 1993 Craig served as president of Indianapolis Physical Therapy and Sports Medicine, Inc., a business he co-founded and oversaw an expansion of to six Indianapolis area clinics.

David, who resides in Acton, Ind., has two children, Jennifer and Brian. His new wife, Cheryl, has two children, Adam and Ashley.

MEL DANIELS

Director of Player Personnel

Mel Daniels has 19 seasons experience as part of the Pacers' basketball staff and, again, has provided his keen, no-nonsense, approach to basketball talent.

The former two-time American Basketball Association MVP (1969, '71), and the ABA's first Rookie of the Year (1968), averaged 19.5 points and 15.9 rebounds a contest from 1968 to 1974 for the Pacers. He was a four-time all-ABA selection, being named to the first team in 1969, 1970 and 1971 and the second-team in 1973. He was also the ABA All-Star Game MVP in 1971.

He is the ABA Pacers' all-time leading rebounder (7,643) and also holds the Pacers' ABA record for rebounds in a single season (1,475 in 1970-71). On March 18, 1969 vs. the New York Nets, he had 37 points and 26 rebounds in the second half, both club ABA records, ending the game with 56 points and 31 boards. In that game he also set Pacers' ABA records for most two-point field goals in a quarter (10), half (16) and game (25). His no. 34 has been retired by the Pacers, he has been honored on the Pacers Wall of Fame and was recently named one of the 50 greatest players to have played in Indiana.

A Detroit native, Daniels was an assistant coach at Indiana State from 1978-82 and was part of ISU's 33-1 NCAA championship runner-up team in 1978-79. Former Sycamore star, and former Pacers' coach, Larry Bird, credits Daniels with preparing him for the NBA.

Daniels, 54, who has been an assistant coach and scout for the Pacers, is an avid horseman. He and his wife, CeCe, live in Sheridan, Ind., at the Circle M Ranch. He lists his favorite horses as Ned, Sauce, Fagan and Bo.

NBA TERMINOLOGY

ACTIVE LIST

The maximum number of active players is 12; the minimum is 11. At no time shall a team be permitted to dress fewer than eight players for a regular season game or nine for a playoff game. During the offseason and training camp, teams may carry no more than 20 active players.

INJURED LIST

When a player is unable to perform his duties, due to injury or illness, his name may be transferred from the Active List to the Injured List. A player may not be placed on a team's Injured List immediately upon signing or acquisition by trade; such a player must first be placed on the team's Active List. Any player placed on the Injured List, who is replaced on his team's Active List, must sit out at least five of his team's regular season games before he may be restored to the Active List. No more than three players may be on a team's Injured List at any one time.

ROSTERS

For the regular season, each team is required to submit the names of its active players to the NBA's Basketball Operations Department no later than 6:00 p.m. (Eastern time) on the day before the opening day of the season.

For the playoffs, each team must submit a list of its players eligible to compete in playoff games by 3:00 p.m. (Eastern time) on the day following the end of the regular season. Because there is no Injured List for the playoffs, each playoff team must designate the 12 players eligible for the playoffs from all of its regular season lists (Active, Injured and Suspended).

10-DAY CONTRACTS

For the 2000-01 season, beginning on Jan. 5, 2001, a team may sign a player to a 10-day contract. This procedure may be used only to replace a player assigned to the Injured List. No player may be signed to more than two 10-day contracts with the same team in any one season.

TRADING DEADLINE

The trade deadline is 6:00 p.m. (Eastern time) on the 17th Thursday of the season. The 2001 trade deadline is Thursday, Feb. 15, 2001. From that point until the end of the regular season, player additions must be made through the waiver procedure or by signing free agents.

WAIVERS

From Aug. 15 to the end of the season, clubs may claim waived players within 48 hours after notice. Players waived at any other time, may be claimed within 10 days. If no team claims the waived player, he becomes a free agent. If more than one team claims a waived player, the one with the lesser record at that time claims the player. The cost for a waived player is $1,000, payable to the league.

GUARANTEED CONTRACTS

For the 2000-01 season, on Wednesday, Jan. 10, 2001, all player contracts become guaranteed for the remainder of the season.

RENUNCIATION OF AMATEUR ELIGIBILITY

A person whose high school class has graduated and is at least 17 years old shall become eligible for the College Draft if he renounces his intercollegiate basketball eligibility by written notice to the NBA at least 45 days prior to the draft. Teams may not make direct or indirect contact with players who have intercollegiate eligibility remaining. Teams may contact players without remaining eligibility, but may not discuss compensation.

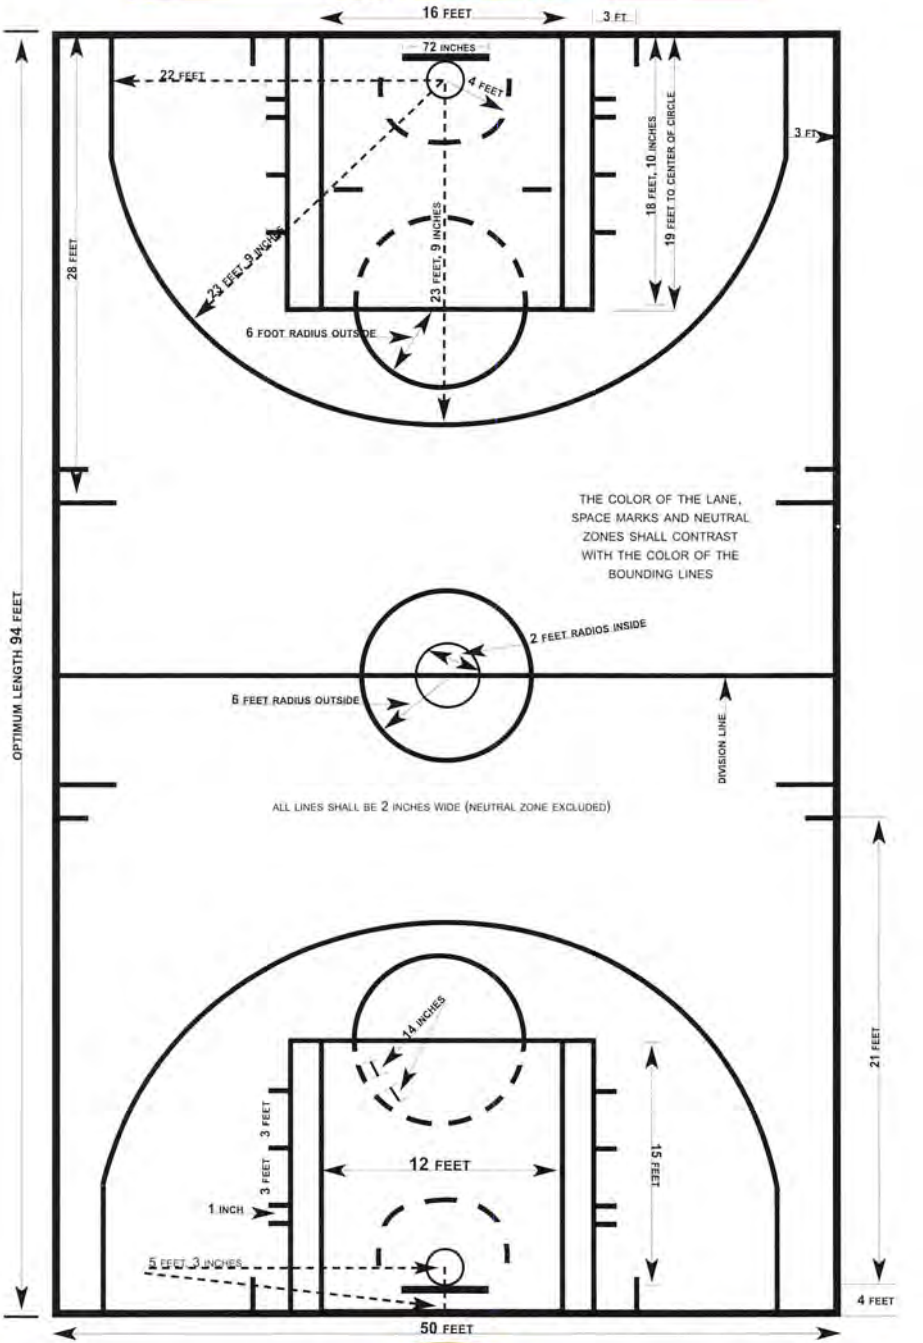
SALARY CAP

The salary cap for the 2000-01 season is $35.5 million per team.

MINIMUM SALARY

The minimum salary changes based on years of service in the league. For the 2000-01 season, the team minimum salary for rookies is $316,969.

COURT DIMENSIONS



NBA IN THE COMMUNITY

NBA players have worked as hard off the court as they have on it, providing help in numerous communities through outreach programs, charitable foundations and public service announcements. The NBA takes pride in serving the needs of young people and providing opportunities for them to reach above and beyond their goals.

The NBA's TeamUp program, a league-wide community service initiative, is the heart of the NBA's volunteer efforts and encourages youth to contribute to the community. Over the past five seasons, more than 200,000 youth have participated in NBA TeamUp-related projects, an impressive measure of the program's success. They have made differences in the lives of many people and contributed to their own communities.

Another demonstration of the NBA's commitment to youth is its partnership with America's Promise -- The Alliance for Youth, led by General Colin Powell, and Youth Service America, where youth can further develop positive attitudes and contribute to their communities.

The NBA/WNBA Sportsmanship Initiative, is a two-fold program that consists of the NBA Student-Athlete Sportsmanship Program and the annual NBA/WNBA Sportsmanship Award. Partnering with the National Federation of State High Schools and the Canadian School Sports Federation, the mission of the initiative is to focus on fostering the ideals of sportsmanship -- ethical behavior, fair play, and integrity -- in amateur and professional basketball players.

The NBA Reading Initiative in conjunction with Reading Is Fundamental (RIF) and Scholastic, Inc., highlighted by 'March is NBA Reading Month', promotes literacy, encourages players to donate their time reading to students at schools and share with fans their favorite books, reading role models and why they like reading.

Other programs the league is currently involved in are Prevent Child Abuse America, now in its 13th year of existence; the King Holiday and Black History Month initiative to recognize the achievements and contributions of African-Americans in history; assisting Gallaudet University in its mission to educate the deaf; the Thurgood Marshall Scholarship Fund, providing contributions and support since 1987; and the National Wheelchair Basketball Association.

PACERS FOUNDATION, INC.

PACERS FOUNDATION, INC.

The Pacers Foundation, Inc. is dedicated to improving the lives of Indiana's young people by building individual and corporate partnerships which will provide the financial assistance for projects that benefit Indiana's youth.

The Pacers Foundation strives to support communities in Indianapolis and throughout the state of Indiana. Founded in Dec. 1993, the Pacers Foundation is dedicated to inspiring and motivating youth to become involved in community activities, to take their education seriously, set personal goals, visualize their dreams and take responsibility for their own lives and neighborhoods.

Thanks to the support of its many corporate partners and numerous individual supporters, the Pacers Foundation is impacting Indiana's youth in significant and diverse ways. The pooling of the charitable contributions of the Foundation's "team of donors" stretches every dollar further, giving greater impact and providing sizable resources for youth projects and programs that increase the opportunities for Indiana youth to live healthy, fulfilling lives. With a solid foundation, our youth can then go on to make significant contributions to society.

The Pacers Foundation, Inc. has granted $237,750 for the 2000-01 season to 33 organizations offering youth projects. In addition, approximately $50,000 will be donated throughout the 2000-01 season for scholarships and other youth programs.

Also, the Pacers Foundation, Inc. awarded a total amount of $21,975 to another 18 organizations through the Conseco Three-point Charity Program. Last season, and continuing through the 2000-01 season, Conseco, Inc. donates $75 for every 3-pt FGM by the Pacers.

Annie was the first heart transplant recipient in Indiana at Methodist Hospital. That was nearly 20 years ago. And Matthew was one of the youngest in the world. He was just three days old when he had surgery at Riley Hospital for Children. These are just two of the hundreds of heart transplant patients we've given a second chance since 1982. As one of the nation's leading teaching and clinical institutions, The Clarian Cardiovascular Center and the physicians of Krannert Institute of Cardiology and the IU School of Medicine, and Methodist Heart Institute pioneer breakthroughs in medicine. From the simplest to the most complex procedures, and from the youngest child to the oldest adult, The Clarian Cardiovascular Center is the only comprehensive heart center in Indiana. Not to mention a big reason Annie and Matthew will forever be young at heart.

WHY THE PACERS?

When professional basketball came to Indianapolis in 1967, one of the key decisions would be what to call the new American Basketball Association franchise.

According to Indianapolis attorney, Richard D. Tinkham, the nickname "Pacers" was decided on through a collective decision of the original investors. Tinkham, one of those investors, recalled that the nickname was a combination of the state's rich history with the harness racing pacers (investor Chuck Barnes was a horse racing enthusiast) and the pace car used for the running of the Indianapolis 500.

Tinkham said the "Pacers" decision was an easy one, but the real debate was whether the team should be called the Indiana Pacers or the Indianapolis Pacers. Since one of the original ideas for the team was to have it playing throughout the state with its base in Indianapolis, the official team name became the Indiana Pacers.

For a brief history on the Indiana Pacers prior to their NBA debut, refer to page 202.

* - NBA Record

 - During the 1973-74 season the ABA used an experimental rule -- when a player committed his seventh foul the team offended would retain possession of the ball after attempting free throws. During the 1974-75 season, the experimental rule came into effect. This category has been calculated using the current maximum fouls of six.

INDIANA STATE FAIRGROUNDS

HISTORY OF THE FRANCHISE

On Feb. 2, 1967 a franchise in the American Basketball Association was offered to a group of Indiana sportsmen and businessmen. That group was comprised of John DeVoe, a successful insurance man; Richard P. Tinkham, an attorney; Charles M. Barnes, Jr., President of Sports Headliners; Bob Collins, Sports Editor of the Indianapolis Star; L. Charles DeVoe, L. M. DeVoe Co.; Ron Woodward, Circle Securities; E.J. Bannon, a Lafayette banker; and George Lyn Treece, Burger Chef Systems.

The results of two feasibility studies conducted by the city indicated that the Indianapolis area could support professional basketball. Armed with this information the group accepted the offer and professional basketball was "back home again in Indiana."

The corporation, Indiana Professional Sports, Inc., was formed to own and operate the new franchise and the corporation went into business with E.J. Bannon as its first President and John DeVoe as the Executive Vice President. Other members of the first board were: Robert Bowes II; L. Charles DeVoe; Richard Ebershoff; Norb Schaeffer; Richard Tinkham; George Lyn Treece; and J. Frederic Wiese.

On June 16, 1967 at a press conference, the Indiana franchise announced it would be known as the "Pacers" because the organization intended to set the "pace" in professional basketball.

Mike Storen was appointed General Manager; Bernie Lareau was named Trainer and Business Manager, while Larry Staverman, an assistant at the University of Notre Dame, was chosen as the Pacers' first coach.

The first player ever drafted by the Pacers was Jimmy Walker, a 6-3 guard from Providence, who was also the first player chosen in the NBA Draft that year. The first player signed by the Pacers was Roger Brown, a 6-5 forward, who was playing AAU ball in the Dayton, Ohio area.

Assisted by Bobby "Slick" Leonard and Clyde Lovellette, Coach Staverman held summer tryouts the week of June 19, 1967. During the week, the Pacers looked at nearly 50 players and attracted over 15,000 fans to the evening scrimmages that were opened to the public.

When the Pacers opened the 1967-68 season against the Kentucky Colonels on Oct. 14, 1967, an overflow crowd filled the Fairgrounds Coliseum. The Pacers, who won the game 117-95, had to turn fans away because of the overcrowding conditions. The Pacers finished their initial season with a 38-40 record. They were eliminated from the playoffs in three straight games by the Pittsburgh Pipers, the eventual league champion.

Despite a record below .500, the Pacers still led the ABA in attendance drawing 192,130 fans, for an average of almost 5,000 per night.

The 1968-69 season marked the beginning of Phase II for Indiana. After only nine games into the season, Bobby "Slick" Leonard was named to replace Larry Staverman as coach of the Pacers, and Indiana was on its way to the top.

That season, Indiana won the Eastern Division and made it to the ABA Championship Finals before losing to the Oakland Oaks, 4-1.

The next season, 1969-70, Indiana ran away from the ABA by posting a 59-25 record, won the Eastern Division crown again, and won their first ABA Championship by beating the Los Angeles Stars, 4-2.

In the 1970-71 season, Indiana moved to the Western Division, which they also won, marking the third straight year Leonard had led the Pacers to a division title. However, they were eliminated from the playoffs by the eventual champions, the Utah Stars, in a seven-game series. The final game of the series was played at the Coliseum in front of an overflow unannounced crowd.

In both 1972 and 1973, Indiana finished second in the Western Division, but were able to regroup to win the championship. In 1972, they overcame some internal problems and ousted the Utah Stars in a fantastic seven-game series, upsetting the Stars in the seventh game in Utah. Indiana captured its second ABA crown by beating the New York Nets, 4-2. In 1973, the Pacers breezed past the Denver Rockets and Utah into the Championships vs. the Kentucky Colonels. Indiana beat the Colonels for the title by winning the seventh game in Louisville in a series that saw the home team win only two of the seven games.

That was the Pacers' third championship in four years and it was the fourth time during the five seasons that Bobby Leonard coached the Pacers that they had made it to the finals.

During the 1973-74 season, the veteran Pacers struggled through the regular season, putting on a strong rush to grab second place from the San Antonio Spurs. In the playoffs, they defeated the Spurs in seven games, eventually losing to Utah. In the offseason, the Pacers traded 30 years of playing experience and began a rebuilding program for the future.

The 1974-75 season marked the beginning of another era for the Pacers. First, they moved into the beautiful Market Square Arena with its 17,000 seats. Also, in midseason, the Pacers encountered severe financial difficulties and went up for sale. A 10-man group, headed by W.D. Eason and Thomas Binford, formed Arena Sports, Inc., which purchased the club. The new group of owners was very concerned with keeping the Pacers in Indiana, continuing the winning tradition and had a long range goal of seeing the Pacers play in the National Basketball Association (NBA). They succeeded on all acccounts.

The young, rebuilt team was the talk of the basketball world as they upset both San Antonio and Denver, the winningest team in pro ball, in the playoffs to advance to the '75 ABA Finals. But, the magic finally ran out, as they lost to Kentucky, 4-1.

In 1975-76, the Pacers ninth and final ABA campaign, the club finished, 39-45, the first sub-.500 season since their inaugural season in '67-'68. However, the Pacers did make the playoffs for the ninth straight season, eventually losing to defending champion, Kentucky, 1-2, in the final seconds.

Following the 1975-76 season, Indiana became a member of the NBA.
